9: VALUE-ADDED SERVICES

VALUE-ADDED SERVICES

Miller Johnson provides many resources to its clients at no cost. Some are educational resources that include client alerts, webinars, podcasts, blogs, newsletters, and video updates. Others are discussing and considering more theoretical implications of what a particular client's project may have on an unbilled basis as it does not directly apply to the project at hand.

The main area we provide a value-add, however, is in the Miller Johnson approach to these types of transactions and interactions with counterparties and clients. As indicated, we take a partnership approach with the client in which we don't only advise of legal risks and leave the client to evaluate those risks in light of the bigger picture and practical realties.

Rather, we endeavor to understand the client's business, its pain points, its preferences, its strategies, and its goals, and then apply that understanding to our analysis of the legal risks and the most efficient, practical way to manage them. We look forward to doing the same for you.
